What sets this programme apart?

Proven cohort methodology

Carefully selected cohorts bring together leaders from different functions and levels of experience. This cross-functional approach creates richer discussion, broader perspectives, and new networks across the organisation.

Expert facilitators

Our team combines expertise in facilitation, training, executive coaching, emotional intelligence and leadership development, supported by real-world experience leading businesses and advising organisations.

Practical toolkits

Concepts and models are translated into practical tools, frameworks and techniques that can be applied immediately in the workplace.

Connected learning journey

Residentials, online workshops, check-ins, coaching and workplace application are intentionally connected to create a cohesive development journey that builds over time.

The leadership journey

The programme unfolds over eight months through a curated journey with each stage building on the last, combining learning, coaching and practical application to create lasting impact and performance.
